Is it Caesar's or God's?

When Jesus was faced with the question as to whether it was right to pay tax, or not, he was being put on the spot.... if he said "Yes" then it meant that he was not a faithful Jew, if he said "No" he could be accused of being a rebel. His questioners were trying to trap him. His reply was not just a clever way of avoiding this trick question but it also challenged the way that his listeners saw the world in which they lived. Jesus knew that His Father was the source of all life. There could be no part of our world which has nothing to do with God. We have to have laws, we need government, we do have to pay our taxes, but everyone, whatever position they may hold in this world of ours, is subject to God's law. Laws have to be just. St. Thomas More famously said that he was "the king's good subject, but God's first." We know that God is at work not only when we are at Mass, but with us throughout each day, and we can't leave our conscience in Church.

Thought for the week
