Hospitality – love in action....

The first reading tells how the Israelites were expected to treat the stranger...they were reminded that they had been strangers and as God had pity on them, they too had to take pity on outsiders. Hospitality became known as one of the primary virtues. Especially for a nomadic people hospitality could be a matter of life or death, travellers depend for their survival on the hospitality of strangers. In the tradition of Israel, the customary questions of "Who are you, why are you here? Where do you come from?" were asked only after hospitality had been offered and accepted, and the guest had rested and been fed. When he had accepted hospitality then he could open up.

The tradition can be seen in the ancient Welsh greeting:

Hail guest we ask not what thou art
If friend we greet thee, hand and heart
If stranger, such no longer be
If foe, our love shall conquer thee

In greeting the stranger, we encounter Christ, "Lord give us eyes to see."
